Comments	I am a partner in the law firm of Gruber Hurst Johansen Hail Shank LLP, a 25-lawyer trial boutique, which handles commercial litigation cases of all types. I manage the firm's intellectual property cases, which include primarily patent litigation and trademark infringement litigation. I also handle commercial litigation matters. I have been a litigation attorney in Dallas since 1993 (the year I first saw and immediately became a life-long devotee of Bar None). Prior to that, I practiced for 10 years as a Chancery barrister in London, where I had to wear a wig and gown when I appeared in court (rather like my first appearance in Bar None IX - Mrs. Reasonable Doubtfire). I obtained my law degree and Master of Arts from Oxford University (where I also had to wear a gown), an institute of higher education which, according to my law partner, Mike Gruber, has been overrated for, at least, 800 years.
